Position Announcement

Technical Production Manager

The University of Georgia Department of Dance and Department of Theatre and Film Studies is currently accepting applications for a 10-month Technical Production Manager. The responsibilities for this position are split 60% in the Department of Dance and 40% in the Department of Theatre and Film Studies. Specifically, this job requires skills in technical theatre including lighting and theatre electrics, audio, projection, media, and digital technology as well as construction of sets. The duties also require strong organizational skills in technical production, facilities and equipment management and maintenance, and training of student crews. For both departments, this position is responsible for ensuring the safety and safe use of all equipment, and for assisting with the acquisition of necessary materials, and maintenance of inventory.

Please visit https://www.ugajobsearch.com/postings/245449 for further details regarding the job duties and responsibilities and additional information. Position is open until filled with a starting date of August 1, 2022. Please provide names and e-mail addresses of three references with your application. Recommendations will be requested later in the search process.